HOTEL MEN CURBED.

Must Charge Visitors to Kansas City Reasonable Rates.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Kansas City, Mo., March 31 -The local Executive Committee in charge of the arrangements for the Democratic National Convention is considerably exercised over the bowl that is going up all over the country because of the rates charged by Kansas City botels for accommodations during the convention.

Two or three national committeemen have written that they would vote to take the convention away from Kansas City if the hotels did not modify their demands, and dozen minor hotels, whose usual rates are from $2 to $3 a day, have been quoting the same rates as the larger hotels, and this extortion the committee is determined to eggerated, and promised that reasonable aggerated, and promised that reasonable rates should prevail. The committee will see to it that this promise is kept. It maintains that the city has the right to control the rates made by the hotels, the same as it dictates the charges for carriage service. At least, on the ground of public safety and sanitation, the city can regulate the number of guests which hotels shall essign to one room. The law protects the hotels from being robbed by its guests, and it is thought there is also a law which will protect guests from being robbed by landlords. At least the committee proposes to test the matter if the hotel men make it necessary.

At the adjourned meeting of the Demo-rats of the Tenth Precinct, Sixth Ward, convention away from Kansas City if the hotels did not modify their demands, and while it is not thought that there is great dangers of losing the convention, it has been decided to adort drastic measures to bring the hotels to reasonable terms.

The rates of the three leading hotels—$5 a day per man. American plan, with both, each room to accommodate four to six persons—are not regarded as exorbitant, but a dozen minor hotels, whose usual rates are from $2 to $3 a day, have been quoting the same rates as the larger hotels, and this extortion the committee is determined to who are regularly nominated by the con-
